February 2008

FEBRUARY 19, 2008 Election Day!

Tuesday, February 19th is Primary Election Day. Polls open at 7am and close at 8pm. Exercise your rights and VOTE!

FREE PARATRANSIT TRIPS FOR MILWAUKEE COUNTY VOTERS WITH DISABILITIES

Through funding provided by the Milwaukee County Commission for Persons with Disabilities, County voters with disabilities can receive free paratransit van rides to and from their polling sites on February 19. When reserving your rides to and from the poll on Feb. 19, just tell your Transit Express or First Transit reservationists that you are going to vote. There will be no cost to you for these rides.

The commission wants to encourage people with disabilities to express their preferences for the leaders of our community, state, and nation. In its meeting of December 10, the Commission elected to use donated community funds, no tax dollars, to support the rider portion of the fare. The members of the commission wanted to be certain that voters need not pay $6.50 for their round trip rides to their voting sites. So, please participate, it's a matter of priority.

LOOKING FOR A HALL?

Are you looking for a hall for your next function? Would you like to rent a beautiful hall in a woodsy setting near you? If you answered yes, please use the link below (or call Bridget @ 414-278-3938) to check out the Wil-O-Way Grant and Wil-O-Way Underwood facilities. They may be just what you're looking for. But hurry, the 2008 calendar is filling up fast.

CAREGIVER'S CORNER

Caregivers New Year's Resolution

In this new year, I will.....

1. Learn to take one hour out of each day just for myself to read, enjoy a hot bath, journal my thoughts or call a friend.
2. Attend at least one caregiver support group to realize that I am not alone and that I can learn from others.
3. See my doctor for a physical exam and give my own health needs more priority.
4. Use respite care at least once a month so that I may get a break and be refreshed. I will consider using the time I have to discover the benefits of massage therapy, the joy of a musical concert, self expression in a painting class or a day at the spa to find stress relief.
5. Eat a balanced diet and exercise at least 20 minutes three times a week even if all I can do is walk around the house, up and down the stairs or exercise from a chair.
6. Seek out one new resource to support my caregiver role such as chore services, housekeeping, home care programs or delivered meals.
7. Try to find a way to laugh or find humor in the day amidst the sadness or discouragement I may feel.
8. Reach out to my family and friends to help with my loved one so that the weight of my responsibility can be lifted and shared. One way I can do this is to keep a list of needs handy so that when help is offered, I can be ready with an answer.
9. Seek spiritual support or personal counseling to gain perspective of my life, clarity of my role and keep my mental health in check.
10. Finally, by focusing on these resolutions, I will be able to reap the rewards of caregiving, maintain balance in my life and provide care longer for my loved one.

SNOWMOBILE FEST

The 31st annual Snowmobile Festival sponsored by the Rolling Dice Riders Snowmobile Club of Franklin will be held on Saturday, February 2 from 11am-4pm at Wil-O-Way Underwood Recreation Center. Snowmobile rides will be given from 12-3pm, snow permitting, and there will be food and music throughout the day. This is a free event and will be held with or without snow. Please contact Easter Seals Kindcare's Recreation Center at 414-482-0133 for registration details.

LEAPING THE GAPS FOR CHILDREN WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

Friday, February 29, 2008, Leap Year Day: 9:00 A.M. — 4:00 P.M. (reception to follow)

Alumni Memorial Union—Marquette University

Participate in an interactive case study. Be inspired by keynote speaker Ann Yurcek, author of Tiny Titans, whose family triumphed through adversity. Explore how you can help children with special needs and their caregivers "leap the gaps" between school, social service, health, and justice systems.

Conference Cost: $40 (Includes breakfast, lunch & reception). FREE for families of children with special needs. For more information and to register, go to: <http://law.marquette.edu/jw/psconference>

Two primary objectives of this conference are to educate all attendees about the difficulties faced by children and their caregivers when engaged with the social service, justice, school or health systems, and to encourage those systems to identify areas they might work more cooperatively on behalf of these children. Unfortunately many children with special needs end up in the juvenile justice system. Early intervention, diagnosis, and service provision may help to prevent this outcome. I hope that you will join us for an engaging day!

Day 1

Topic: P.L.A.Y. Project
Level I Workshop "Introduction to Floortime and P.L.A.Y."

This one day workshop focuses on The P.L.A.Y. Project - a unique, community based Autism training and early intervention program. The model is based on the Developmental theories of Stanley Greenspan, MD, known as the Developmental Individualized and Relationship (DIR) Oriented Model – also known as "Floortime." The DIR theory and research will be presented along with video case examples to help participants learn DIR strategies, methods and techniques. The session will help parents and professionals learn effective, low cost and efficient ways to provide intensive intervention programming for young children (18 months – 7 years) with Autistic Spectrum Disorders (ASD) and help them gain language and social skills.

Learning Objectives

Participants in the Level I workshop will:

- Describe current trends and research in ASD's
- Describe how "affect" drives growth & development
- The importance of the neurological "Comfort Zone"
- Describe basic DIR (Floortime) principles, strategies, and techniques
- DIR intervention techniques with children with ASD's

Agenda

7:30 to 8:30 Registration

Saturday, March 8th, 2008

Day 2

Topic: P.L.A.Y. Project
Level II Workshop "Floortime
and P.L.A.Y. - Higher
Functioning Levels of Autism
Spectrum Disorders"

This one day workshop focuses on children ages 4-8 years old with high functioning autism. This session will help parents and professionals learn methods to help children with high functioning autism improve social skills through the use of social stories, play dates, and behavioral analysis of social deficits. Characteristics of a supportive educational program for elementary children with ASD will be discussed. Attendees will expand their knowledge of techniques that can help children with ASD solve problems, control impulses, and improve behavior.

Learning Objectives

Participants in the Level II workshop will:

- Describe current trends and research in ASD's
- Describe strategies that promote two-way communication
- Describe strategies that promote social development
- Describe higher skill levels in the DIR (Floortime) Model

Agenda

Where's your refund?

Get answers to your refund questions fast at IRS.gov — in Spanish as well as English.

Whether you split your refund among several accounts, Direct Deposit it to one account or ask IRS to mail you a check, you can get information about your federal income tax refund from any Internet-connected computer. The Service's online refund feature, Where's My Refund?, puts your refund information at your fingertips virtually anytime.

Although Where's My Refund? was previously available from the Spanish version of IRS.gov, El IRS en Español, the content was in English. The new all-Spanish version, ¿Dónde está mi reembolso?, debuted this year as part of the Service's Multilingual Initiative. You can access the Spanish version through either the Where's My Refund? landing page or El IRS en Español.

Where's My Refund? is fast, easy, safe and convenient. Just key in three pieces of personal identification information — your Social Security number, filing status and refund amount from your return — and presto! You'll get your refund information.

Spread the word. Tell your family, friends and neighbors to join the 32 million taxpayers who checked their refunds online last year. Taxpayers without Internet access can get refund information by calling the IRS Refund Hotline at 1-800-829-1954.

COUNTY RESIDENTS SAVED MORE THAN $126,000 ON PRESCRIPTION DRUGS THROUGH THE END OF 2007

Savings up to 50% available to all Milwaukee County residents with no prescription drug coverage

MILWAUKEE, WI – A record number of Milwaukee County residents are taking advantage of a discount drug card offered by Milwaukee County and the National Association of Counties (NACo). The program allows counties to distribute free prescription drug discount cards offering an average savings of 20% off common retail prescription prices. Through the end of 2007, residents have saved $126,841 on prescription drugs since the program was launched in 2006. Milwaukee County residents are on pace to save another $150,000 in 2008 alone. Those savings greatly exceed what Milwaukee County pays in dues to NACo on an annual basis.

“While residents can save 20% at the pharmacy, even bigger savings can be realized through a mail order service,” Supervisor Richard D. Nyklewicz, Jr., said. “This program will deliver three month supplies of certain medications to you for 50 percent off the retail price.”

No enrollment forms or membership fees are required. Regardless of age or income, any Milwaukee County resident without prescription drug coverage can receive the discount by simply showing the card at any participating pharmacy or by call a toll-free number. To obtain a card, Milwaukee County residents can contact Supervisor Nyklewicz (414-278-4252) or their own County Supervisor. For more information about NACo’s free prescription drug discount card, call toll free 1-877-321-2652 or visit <http://naco.advancrx.com>.

Cards can also be obtained from one of the following locations: Milwaukee County Board Offices, 901 N. 9th Street, Courthouse Room 201, General Assistance Medical Program, 9501 Watertown Plank Road; Department of Health and Human Services, 1220 W. Vliet St. and 1673 S. 9th St.; Department on Aging, 310 W. Wisconsin Ave.; Southside Health Clinic, 1639 S. 23rd St.; MLK Heritage Clinic, 2555 N. King Drive; 16th Street Health Center, 1032 S. 16th St.; Clinica Latina, 1238 S. 16th St.; Lubsey Clinic, 5300 W. Villard Ave.; Milwaukee County Parks Administration, 9480 Watertown Plank Road.

Supervisor Nyklewicz is Vice-Chairman of the Milwaukee County Board and served as the Wisconsin Counties Association’s elected representative to the National Association of Counties Board of Directors for eight consecutive years.

Don't Overlook These Valuable Tax Credits

FS-2008-2, January 2008

Tax credits can help you pay part of the cost of raising a family, going to college, saving for retirement, making energy-saving improvements to your home and getting daycare so you can work or go to school. Each year, many taxpayers overlook them, even though they often qualify for one or more of these credits.

Though both tax deductions and credits can save you money, they do it in different ways. A deduction lowers the income on which tax is figured, while a credit lowers the tax itself. Take time now to review your records and see if you qualify for one of these popular but often overlooked tax credits.

Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)

The Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) helps low- and moderate-income workers and working families. Working families with incomes below $39,783 and childless workers with incomes under $14,590 often qualify. Ordinarily, you must have earned income as an employee, independent contractor, farmer or business owner. Some disability retirees are also eligible. Use the EITC Assistant, which will be available in mid-January, to see if you qualify.

Child Tax Credit

If you have a dependent child under age 17 you probably qualify for the child tax credit. This credit, which can be as much as $1,000 per eligible child, is in addition to the regular $3,400 exemption you can claim for each dependent. Don't confuse the child tax credit with the child care credit. For details on figuring and claiming the child tax credit, see IRS Publication 972.

Credit for Child and Dependent Care Expenses

If you pay someone to care for your child so you can work or look for work, you probably qualify for this credit. Normally, your child must be your dependent and under age 13. Though often referred to as the child care credit, this credit is also available if you pay someone to care for a spouse or dependent, regardless of age, who is unable to care for himself or herself. In most cases, you need to obtain the care provider's social security number or taxpayer identification number and enter it on your return.

Form 1040 filers claim the credit for child and dependent care expenses on Form 2441. Form 1040A filers claim it on Schedule 2.

Education Credits

The Hope credit and the lifetime learning credit help parents and students pay for post-secondary education. Normally, you can claim tuition and required enrollment fees paid for your own, as well as your dependents' college education. The Hope credit targets the first two years of post-secondary education, and an eligible student must be enrolled at least half time. You can take the lifetime learning credit, even if you're only taking one course.

In some cases, you may do better by claiming the tuition and fees deduction, instead. You cannot take both an education credit and the tuition and fees deduction for the same student in the same year. Special rules, including income limits, apply to each of these tax breaks.

Education credits are claimed on Form 8863. For details on these and other education-related tax breaks, see Publication 970.

Saver's Credit

The saver's credit helps low-and moderate-income workers save for retirement. You probably qualify if your income is below certain limits and you contribute to an IRA or workplace retirement plan, such as a 401(k). Income limits for 2007 are $26,000 for singles and married filing separately, $39,000 for heads of household and $52,000 for joint filers.

Also known as the retirement savings contributions credit, the saver's credit is available in addition to any other tax savings that apply. You still have time to put money in an IRA and get the saver's credit on your 2007 return. 2007 IRA contributions can be made until April 15, 2008. Use Form 8880 to claim the saver's credit.

Energy-Saving Tax Credits

You can take a credit based on what you spend on various energy-saving improvements made to your main home. New energy-efficient improvements qualify, including insulation, exterior windows, exterior doors, water heaters, heat pumps, central air conditioners, furnaces and hot water boilers. The overall credit is limited to $500 and further dollar limits apply to specific components — for example, $200 for windows. If you took the full $500 credit in 2006, you cannot claim the credit in 2007, even if you made qualifying energy-saving improvements.

Separately, there is a 30 percent credit for the cost of photovoltaic property, solar water heating property and fuel cell property.

These credits are claimed on Form 5695.

Tax Credits Can Save You Money

These credits can increase your refund or reduce the tax you owe. Usually, credits can only lower your tax to zero. But some credits, such as the EITC and the child tax credit, can actually exceed your tax. Though some credits are available to people at all income levels, others have income restrictions. These include the EITC, saver's credit, education credits and child tax credit.

If you qualify, you can claim any credit, regardless of whether you itemize your deductions. Any credit can be claimed on Form 1040, sometimes referred to as the long form. Alternatively, except for the energy credits, all the credits outlined in this fact sheet can be claimed on the 1040A short form. The EITC can even be claimed on Form 1040EZ. The instruction booklet for each of these forms has more information about these and other tax credits.
